School Spirit & Participation

EBI ZAHABI, SCA President

Two keys to the success of any student body are school spirit and participation from its members. Abraham (Ebi) Zahabi is an example of someone who has certainly done more than his share. Ebi held the office of class vice-president during his freshman and sophomore years. In his junior year he was SCA Vice-President and he has served as SCA President for the 1992-'93 school year. He has been on the Courtland soccer team all four years of his high school career and has been a Natural Helper since the inception of the program. His popularity among the student body is evidenced by his being elected a Homecoming attendant for four years; further, he was chosen as Homecoming King this year. In addition to a demanding extra-curricular schedule, Ebi has worked for an advanced studies diploma. Ebi is a leader by example and is to be commended for all that he has contributed to Courtland in his four years here.

"Unforgettable"

Prom 1992 was held at the Mary Washington College Ballroom on Saturday, May 23. It was a night filled with "Unforgettable" memories. Prom night is the one night where juniors and seniors can strut their stuff in ultimate style. However, before any of this could take place, the junior class and its sponsors had to put in hours of hard work to make the ballroom look as beautiful as it did. Planning this special event is just as exciting as, but much more time-consuming than, the prom itself. "Prom was an evening of special memories," said Krista Feierabend and Ashley Brackett. The evening will be remembered by everyone for years to come.

A Promise Can Save a Life

During the week of March 23-27, 1992, Courtland students were asked to sign a contract stating that they would not drink on Prom night. To help keep this promise and increase the number of signatures, our administrators got involved. At certain student participation percentages each brave person agreed to a "wacky" stunt. At 55% Mr. Pickett would wear a dress to school, at 65% Mrs. Wadsworth would spend the day on the roof of the school, at 75% Mr. Houck would campaign for the Republican party, and at 85% Mr. Noakes would sing the alma mater on the P.A. system. Every challenge was met and 91% of all students signed the promise. The start of Prom Promise is the start of saving lives for at least one night of the year. Hopefully this will lead to less drinking and to finding other ways of having fun.

"I feel that Prom Promise is a good idea because it involves both the students and the administration in keeping Prom night safe."

-Jenny Campbell

Is that a sincere smile, or a grimace, that Democrat Houck wears as he campaigns for the Republican Party?

With style and flair, Mr. Pickett poses in his (wife's) favorite outfit.

Mrs. Wadsworth gives the impression that being on the roof was a day of fun instead of a debt to the student body.

Inset: With a book in her hands, Mrs. Wadsworth settles down for a long day on top of the roof.

With three hula-hoops in hand and a keen eye, Tony Simms takes careful aim at the mannequin. This was one of the games available at the party.

With a jukebox by their side, Courtland Cougars had a night to remember at the after-prom party. The night included games, food, music, prizes, and pure fun. Many parents helped make this evening a memorable one. The party was designed to keep students busy, off the streets, and away from alcohol to ensure a safe prom night. More Than Meets The Eye: 1992 Spring Play

This painting, done by Mike Budzisz, was a great background feature of the play.

Stanley Nichols, played by Chris Haymes, is taking a year off to write "the great American novel." Unknown to anyone except his immediate family, however, he has been writing a series of children's stories under the pseudonym "Grandma Letty." Despite their overwhelming success, Stanley has managed to avoid the public until he is voted "Grandmother of the Year." Suddenly his whole house is invaded by questioning neighbors, nosy reporters, and a publisher in love with "Grandma Letty." This comedy, which also has some serious lessons about telling the truth, was brilliantly performed by Courtland's Drama Club.

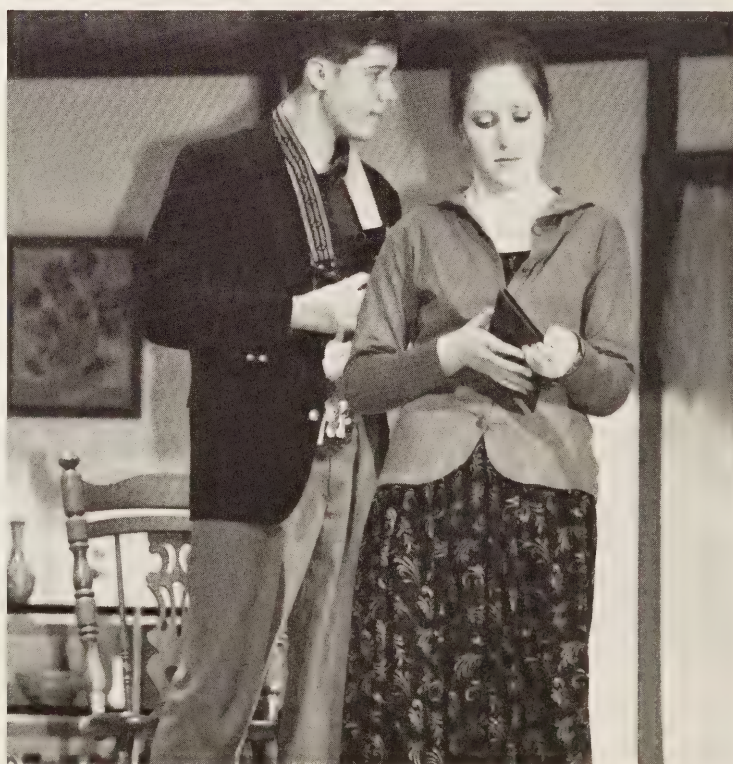

"Telegram for Grandma Letty and this time I expect a tip."

Bradley and Peggy, played by Devin Bousquet and Angela Stanford, try to work out problems in their relationship.

Prudence, played by Heather Lindert, is aided by Carl, played by J.J. Buckley, in her search for some "dirt" on the characters.

It seems as though Mr. Hoskins (Duane Zoldak) has had one too many to drink.

The Annual Awards Assembly honors many of

COURTLAND'S FINEST

Courtland High School held its annual Scholarship and Awards Assembly on Thursday, May 21, 1992, in the gymnasium. Teachers, students, and some parents watched numerous students receive awards and scholarships from clubs, local organizations, sororities, and other associations. Elizabeth Boiler and Jennifer Dickerson attained numerous honors, receiving five awards each. Tracy Johnson and Neil Pifer received the Army Athlete/Scholar Award. Athletic scholarships went to Rufus Robinson, David Allen, Bryan Ebersol, and Robert Spuchesi for football and Mike Boucher for track. The 1992 Art Student of the Year went to Renee Michie. Two juniors, Latonia Morgan and Heather Lindert, also received awards for excellence. These students, and all who received honors, deserve our congratulations.

TASSEL TURNING TIME

Graduation was held on June 12, 1992. Ceremonies began with the traditional procession onto the football field. When all were seated, Reverend Chester J. Smith gave the invocation. The guest speaker was Congressman George Allen, 7th District Representative in the House of Representatives. Charlotte Walsh, who had to audition for the honor, gave the opening address, and Elizabeth Boiler, as valedictorian, gave the commencement address. The diplomas were handed out, and hats were thrown in the air. The proud parents, teachers, and administrators watched as the new graduates turned tassels and walked off of the field, diplomas in hand and smiles on their faces.

Here's Lookin' at You, Kid!

Just who are these cute kids? Can you guess? Well, give it a try! If you're having trouble, you can find their true identities on page 42. The pictures on the following pages take us back to the mid seventies. Most of the class of '93 was born in 1975. In '75, International Women's Year, Gerald Ford was President of the U.S. and Mills Godwin was the governor of VA. There was a "growth" of interest in indoor gardening and the Chevette was a new car model. Children's rights was an important legal issue. Broadway hit musicals included A Chorus Line, Hello, Dolly!, and The Wiz. In the sports arena, Cincinnati won the World Series and Pittsburgh won the Super Bowl. Tennis greats were Chris Evert and Arthur Ashe and Cassius Clay was the heavyweight boxing champion. Unemployment, unfortunately, was at the highest rate since WWII.

IN MEMORY OF...

VICTOR WELLS

The junior year is a year of great decision. Most people have to decide what field they want to go into in the future. Some go the vocational route, while others go the college route. The junior year is also a year to enjoy yourself because the next year will bring decisions on what to do after graduating. But most of all the junior year is a year to develop dreams that will soon be fulfilled. Left: Shannon Mahone prepares a board in shop class. Middle: Melissa Willard practices a skit in drama class.

An Italian Summer: Two Juniors Visit Italy Over the Summer

While most juniors were lounging around the pool this summer, Heather Garrison and Gretchen Blankenship were securing passports, flying over-seas, and visiting historical places. Their European vacation lasted from June 30 to July 10, and took the girls to Rome, Florence, Venice, Pompey, and Sorrento. They visited many famous sights, including Michaelangelo's "David," the Sistine Chapel, the Vatican, and several other cathedrals. While in Italy the group did face some problems, though; lost luggage, questionable food, and pick-pockets kept them in touch with reality. But after it was all over, they wanted to go back again.

History Comes to Life

In October 26, 1992, the 11th grade intergal learning class and the AP U.S. History class went back in time to the colonial days. They visited The Museum of Colonial History in Staunton, Virginia. Everyone had to be at school by 6:45 a.m., which made the day a day full of awns. They arrived at the museum at 9:15 a.m. after a long ride. After having lunch, the tour started with a 10 minute informative video. After dividing into two groups, the students went back in history. The first place visited was an Irish farm where they learned about Irish farm products. Next they visited a German home. The German home was modeled after 18th century German style dwellings. Following the German visit the students visited an English farm. The farm had several sheep as well as a well cultivated garden. The final visit was to an American style farm. The guide discussed old courting customs while touring the farmhouse. The visit was concluded with a return trip to Courtland High School.

Far left: Justin Lewis, Stacey Imler, and Renee Kuzmovich enjoy break time while on their field trip in Staunton. Left: An old-fashioned German seamstress explains to her guests about the way clothes were made in the 18th century.

Before returning to class, CJ Wormley and friends "huddle" for a quick picture. 6. In between classes, Laura Dumke hurries to her locker so she can get to class on time and talk to her friends. The interim between classes gives students a short time to socialize.

FACTOID

At last count there were a total of 1217 students roaming the halls here at Courtland High School. The freshmen numbered at 386 with the sophmores at 331. The juniors show up at 287 and the seniors at the smallest number with 213.

Christina McKim looks up from her studying to glance around the lunchroom. Lunch proves to be a second study hall for many students who want to look over their notes one last time before taking that test later.

FACTOID

There are 95 teachers and administrators helping to improve the minds of the students of Courtland High School.

The cast and crew of the freshmen homecoming float are jubilant during the parade. Many long hard hours went into the creation of this masterpiece.

New and foreign exchange students come to Courtland

Starting Over Again

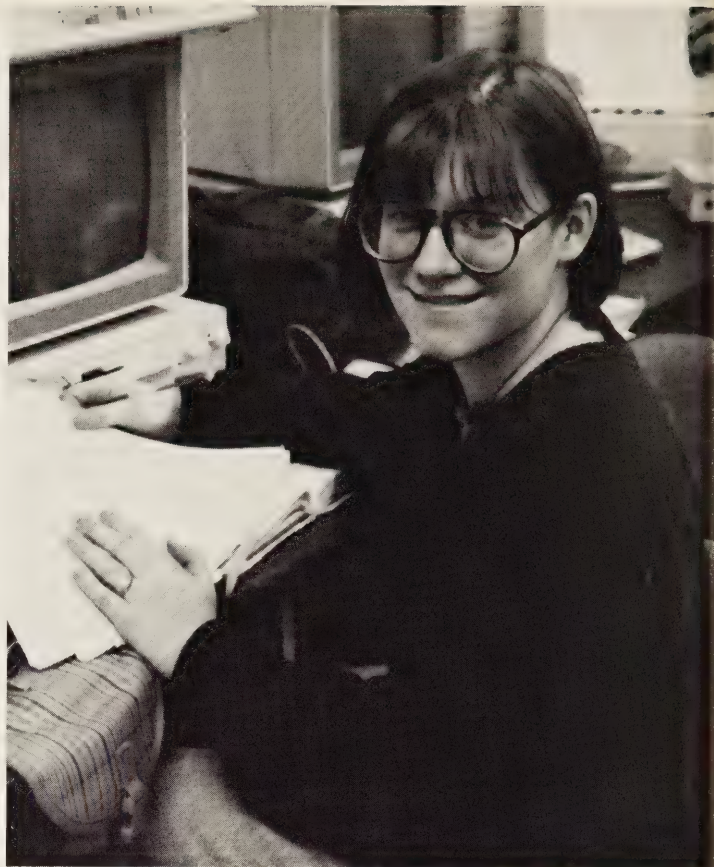

Attending a new school is difficult for most students. They miss their friends, life-styles, and towns. When you are a foreign exchange student an entirely new life-style is set before you. Living with people whom you did not know before, attending a school where no one knows you, and language problems are all obstacles that the students face. This year Courtland High School received two foreign exchange students, Stefan Kjellstrom and Erica Karlsson, both from Sweden. Even though their time here is limited, foreign exchange students get involved in activities and sports while here. Stefan is involved in numerous activities including soccer, indoor track, and indoor soccer.

New students encounter most of the same difficulties as retuning students but are more likely to

"I really didn't want to move away from home my senior year but now I'm glad I did." • Kelly Pettis overcome them more easily. When new student Kelly Pettis was asked what her first impression of Courtland was, she answered, "I thought Courtland was very large and very colorful." Kelly is originally from Bangor, Pennsylvania. It does not matter if you are from within the United States or another country when you move to a new school because big changes are ahead but it is also a chance for a new beginning.

Right: Kelly Pettis seems happy to be at Courtland.

LEADERSHIP

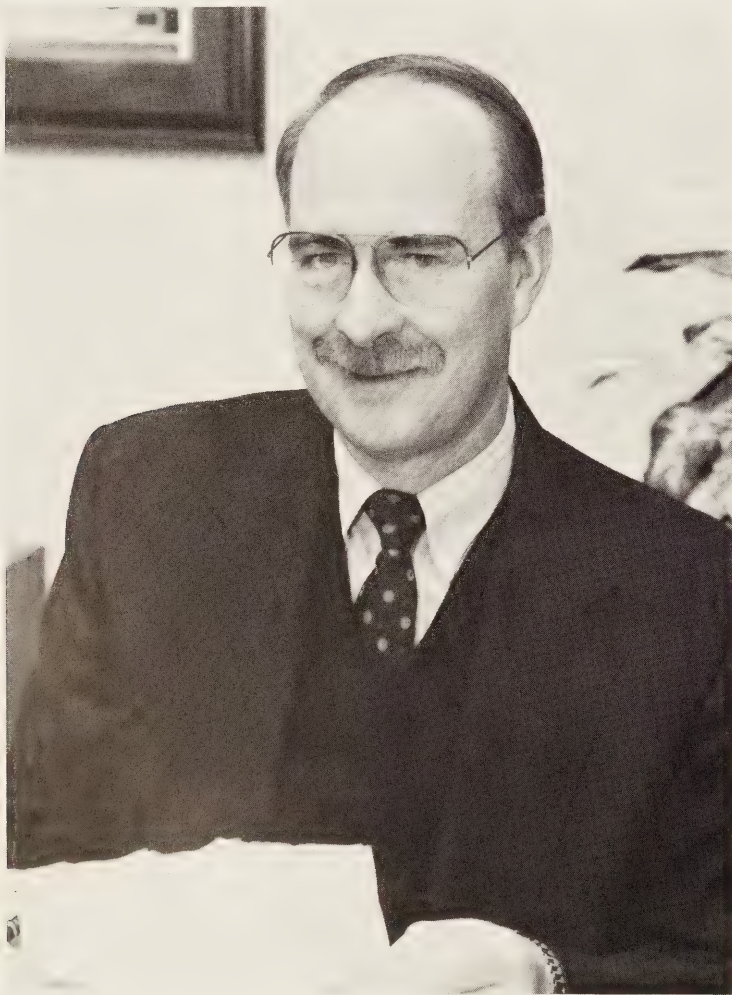

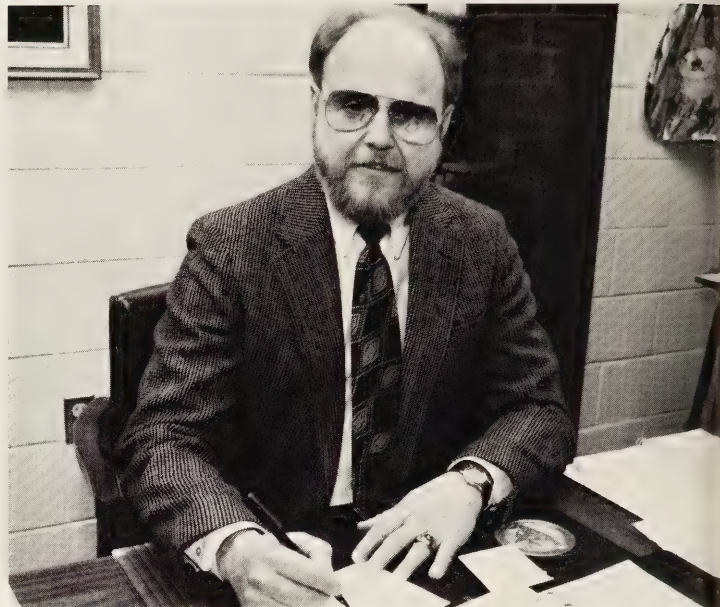

There were quite a few changes made this summer in the administrative staffs of Spotsylvania County schools. At Courtland, assistant principals Mr. Houk and Mrs. Wadsworth were moved to Chancellor and Spotsylvania High Schools respectively. Moving to Courtland from Chancellor was Mr. Bob Daniel and coming from Spotsylvania was Mrs. Mary Speight. When asked how they felt about the move each responded with similar views. Both administrators feel there are advantages as well as disadvantages to changing schools. Mrs. Speight and Mr. Daniel agree that working with new faculty and staff is an advantage to changing schools and leaving friends, co-workers, and students is a disadvantage. Neither Mrs. Speight nor Mr. Daniel feel that there are any significant differences between their former schools and Courtland.

Guidance Staff

Betty Anderson

Ethel Brown

The guidance department is an integral part of our school environment. The staff not only helps organize events such as SAT's, schedules, and other testing but also helps students individually to define their goals. Whether your future includes college, vocational training or a full time job after graduation, the guidance staff helps you to plan your future and gives you the support to obtain your goals. If you do run into an obstacle in your path the staff helps to overcome that problem with individual care and understanding. Guidance counselors understand the challenge students face in today's world and it is their goal to make sure that every student who graduates from Courtland High School is ready to face that works head on, secure about what lies ahead in their future. This year the guidance department implemented a new way of trying to help the students better by dividing the student body up into sections by last name and a different counselor has a section. Mrs. Greene is in charge of A-F. Mrs. Dembo has H-Me and Ms. Anderson has Mi-Z. Bottom: The guidance staff takes a break from their long day to enjoy their lunch.

Nancy Dembo

Gail Greene

Library Staff

The library is a very important part of the school. Here is where Mock Congress students search for evidence, english students look in the NCLCs, and others concentrate on a good book or homework. When you're in the library, do you ever think of the time that the staff puts into getting everything in order and on the shelves for your use? It's not an easy job, though it may seem that way. One thing that these women deal with is students who can't find books. Even those who've been here three or more years still can't always find certain things. It's a huge responsibility to keep track of the books leaving the library. So next time you use the library, thank the staff for their work.

Hear Ye! Hear Ye!

Come One, Come All!

To the Renaissance Festival

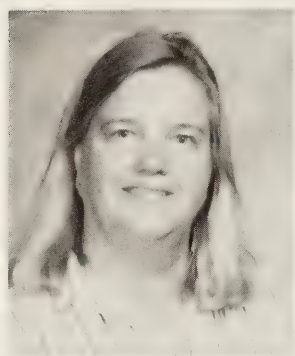

•On October 17th, many Courtland seniors endured a grueling bus ride to travel to Crownsville, Maryland for the Maryland Renaissance Festival. Here they experienced first hand what it was like to live in the Middle Ages. They saw people walking around in Renaissance clothing and speaking the language of the time, Middle English. They watched as jesters performed, people jumped in the Mud Pit, and gypsies told fortunes. During the day the students had a chance to purchase fine foods. Some of the more popular foods included steak on a stake, turkey drumsticks, hot apple dumplings, and frozen cheesecake. To quench the thirst of the students, drinks including water, cider, and Pepsi products were available. Some of the popular items to purchase were flower garlands for the girls' hair, jester hats, and musical instruments. These items were purchased while students mingled in the numerous shops which sold items ranging from jewelry to clothing. At 1:00 P.M., the students congregated to watch "The King's Joust," a performance put on for the king. The students picked whether to root for the bad guy or the good guy by sitting on the side of the arena that was supporting their choice. At the end of the day, the students performed an impromptu dance in the middle of town accompanying the music of a bagpipe player. They danced in a circle as one by one someone would dance in the middle of their circle. The dance was a wonderful way to end the wonderful afternoon of enjoyment. It was a rewarding and educational experience for the students who wish to return again next year.

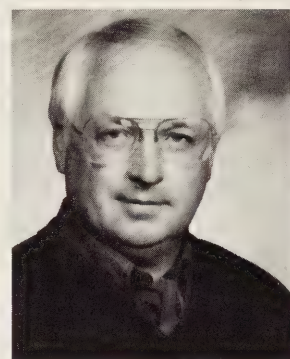

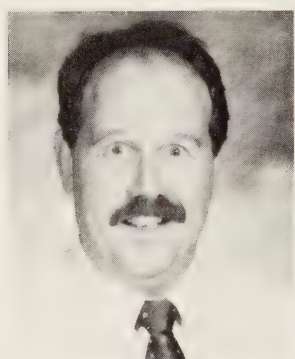

Above Left: The good knight parades around the arena before the start of the King's Joust. Left Center: Tony Simms and Kit Perkins take time out to pose with a knight from the festival. Biology II Seminar Classes Go Insect Hunting

Every year the Biology II Seminar classes pack up their bags, insect nets in hand, and embark on a journey through the woods of Courtland High School in search of the ever-elusive insect world. Some of the most sought after insects were the dragonfly and, of course, the butterfly. The future entomologists went to the pond and looked for these insects in many different ways. These methods included swinging the nets through the air, sweeping the nets through brush, beating the trees, and skimming the water with the nets. After catching the insects, the students placed them in jars with cotton balls saturated with ethyl acetate, also used in fingernail polish remover. Once the insects were dead, the students pinned them on a piece of styrofoam and put them on display. The students were extra careful to place moth balls in their displays to keep the mites from eating their findings.

Students Versus Faculty

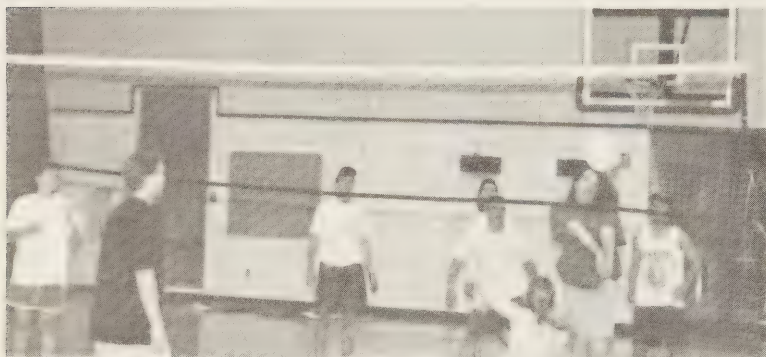

Let the games begin!

Whether over the net or through the hoop the students and the faculty of Courtland High School tend to get involved in any activity in which competition occurs. In this case, it was the first annual Student and Faculty Volleyball Tournament and the annual Student and Faculty Basketball Game. The volleyball tournament our well-trained Cougar teams. This year the female faculty beat the girls team and the male faculty members beat the boys. As usual, all the teams put up a good fight for the sake of their pride with the victorious teams earning the bragging rights until they see each other again. All of the students and teachers had a great time at both events and can't wait until the next meeting.

Hannah Brittain forcefully bumps the ball as her teammates watch in awe.

Mr. Wade attempts to make a foul shot after being fouled by the boys.

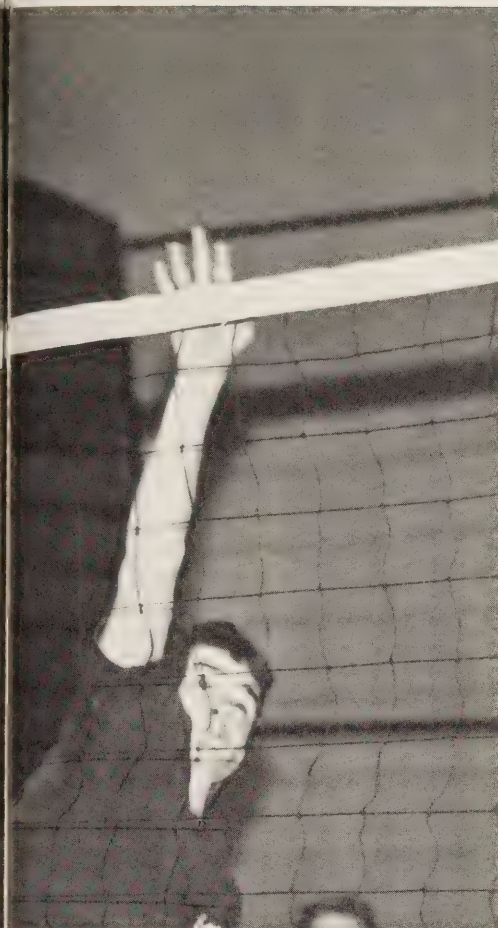

Miss Stover listens with dismay as she hears the referee make an important call in the students favor.

Mr. Kotulka, Mr. Davis, Mr. Lowman and Mr. Wade stare in disbelief as Craig Doucette attempts to psych out the teachers.

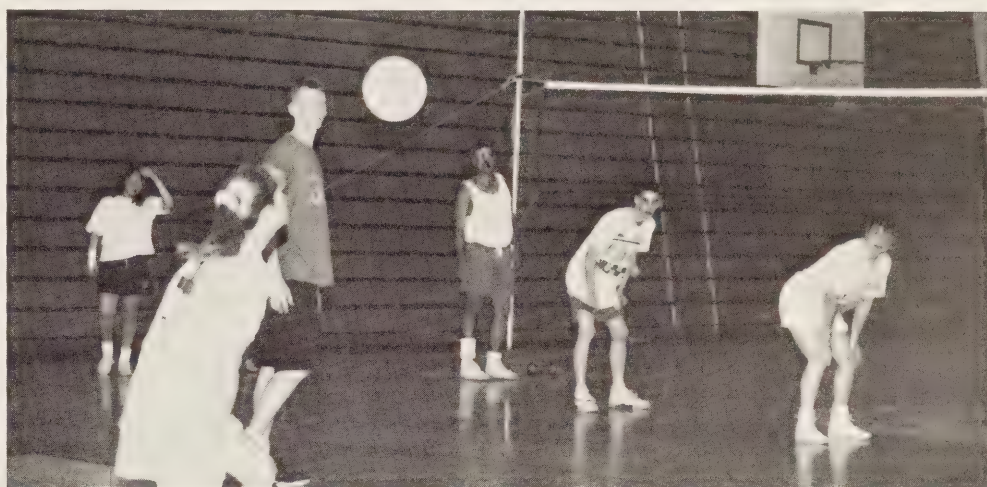

What Will The Outcome Be?

Greg Allen jumps up to attempt to block a powerful pike by Mr. Kidd. Mr. Kidd, Mrs. Mann and Mr. Mann all play volleyball in a recreational league. Maybe the students were at a disadvantage here.

Neil Pifer forcefully slams the ball down to the other court and into the face of an opponent.

Aiming carefully for the basket, Mr. Kotulka attempts to score a point.

Mrs. Mann lets out with one of her trademark "eeks!" while avoiding the falling opponent.

I.L.T. Classes

This year there were three I.L.T. Classes. I.L.T. stands for Integrated Learning Techniques. They were an eleventh grade English and American History class, taught by Mr. Miller and Dr. Walker, a tenth grade Advanced English and World History class, taught by Ms. Synan and Mrs. Fuller, and a ninth grade World Geography and Math 9 class, taught by Mr. Stack and Mr. Kotulka. The eleventh grade class went to Staunton, VA, to a living history museum on the Western Frontier, had a speaker come in to talk about life in Jamestown, had a speaker about life as a slave, and went to Washington, D.C. to the Capitol and White House. This class combined American Literature and History to get a fuller understanding of the times. The tenth grade class made a newspaper entitled the Ancient Enquirer. They studied several civilizations and practiced writing and computer skills. The ninth grade class was mainly in the computer room. They learned how to find statistics on countries, map skills, such as putting things to scale and using longitude and latitude, calculated the exchange rate of different countries money, calculated the square footage of buildings, and found the volume of pyramids around the world.

Here he is showing the basic clothing for a slave.

Teachers Hard At Work

Below: Mrs. Mann is actually on the other side of the camera for once. One can usually find her taking the picture, not being part of it. This is not true for the most part of this year though. With the help of her yearbook staff, she has become the subject of many candids, and found herself looking at the camera instead of in it.

Above Left: Mrs. Goodpasture teaches her students about the congressional branch of the United States. Mrs. Goodpasture teaches the hearing impaired students. Above Right: Mrs. Dewey poses with Casey Hatcher, one of her sixth period students, who finally "hung" her in her ever famous game of hangman. Mrs. Dewey likes to challenge her students to 'hang' her in order to receive a free extra credit grade. Although many students have tried, very few have succeeded. Top Right: Mr. Holcomb peers over Kelley Kesner's shoulder to help her with a question that she has on her test. Mr. Holcomb, a math teacher, mixes learning and fun in his unique style of teaching. He places students in groups and helps them to teach each other and learn from one another. Within the individual classes, the groups compete against each other making learning more fun for everyone.

The next time that you walk into class and ask the teacher if the test you took the previous day was graded and the response is "no," don't get upset. Although we would like them to, many teachers can not stay up half of the night grading papers. Many teachers have children, after school activities, or other jobs that they have to attend to. Mrs. Mann not only teaches, but is a yearbook advisor, Cross-Country coach, and volleyball club sponsor. Mr. Kidd, Mr. Brown, and Mr. Holcomb, likewise, teach and coach football. Ms. Pitts teaches, produces The Courtland Chronicle, and works another job after school lets out. Mr. Nesbitt, the Drama teacher, also produces all of the plays. Others, like Mrs. Fuller, Mrs. Bowler, and Mrs. Goodpasture have small children to tend to. Although all of the teachers weren't named, all of them have other things to do in addition to grading papers. So, don't come down too hard on teachers if they don't get tests graded the very next day.

Right: Mr. Kotulka makes quite a fashion statement during a visit on a parent-teacher conference night. Mr. Kotulka had just finished practice with the basketball team and had to slip up to the parent-teacher conferences when the camera caught sight of him. Above: Ms. Mahoney shows a look of great determination as she tries to curl 85 pounds. "Not Gonna Do It-Wouldn't Be Prudent!"

On a sunny day in September, President Bush stopped in Fredericksburg to seek support for his reelection campaign. He spoke on the leading issues including abortion, the deficit, the environment, and taxes. A very large crowd gathered early to see Bush. In order to ensure the safety of the President, most onlookers had to pass through security gates before approaching Goolrick's. There were both Bush and Clinton supporters in the crowd.

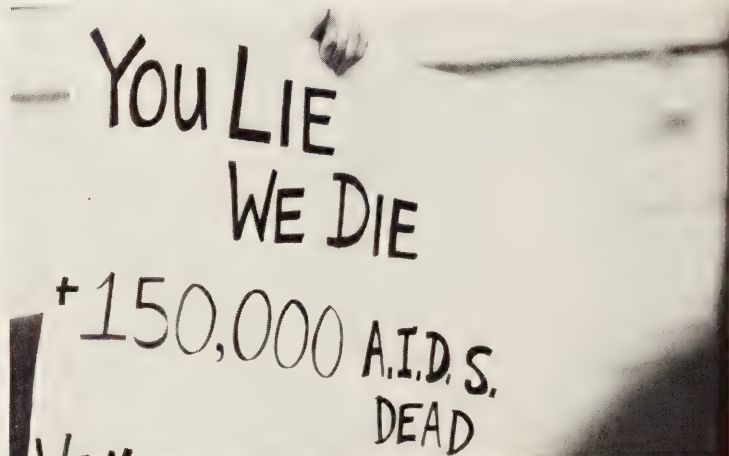

Right: All eyes are on President Bush as the crowd listens intently to his speech.

This student shows her feelings on the past handling of the A.I.D.S. crisis.

Being a Leader, Not a Follower

Courtland was fortunate enough to welcome two "stars" to our school this year. On September 9, 1992, Olympic star Jeff Rouse came to describe the struggles and hard work he went through to earn his medals. These medals include a silver in the 100-meter backstroke, and a gold in the 400 meter medley relay. Rouse was heavily favored to win the gold in the 100-meter backstroke. Although he was devastated when he finished second, Rouse was able to put his loss behind him and get his team off to a substantial lead in the medley relay, breaking his own world record in the process.

Left: Rouse proudly displays his gold medal. Right: Jeff Rouse talks to the crowd about his accomplishments in Barcelona.

Talk show hosts are normally associated with gossip, but Donna Tyson of "The Donna Tyson Show" which airs on CV3, showed that talk shows can be enriching. On May 14, 1992, she shared the experience she had with Oprah Winfrey. Tyson indicated that meeting Winfrey, who was very polite and encouraging, helped her see that she could be just as good. She told students that if they set realistic goals and truly work hard, then there is nothing that can stop them from being successful.

A Night to Remember Always And Forever

Anticipation. Waiting for that special night. It takes forever to get ready and then it's all over. The dress is put away never to be worn again. The question is: was it worth all the effort? Most people wouldn't exchange that night for anything. The court and the rest of the school anxiously waited for the results of the school-wide election of Homecoming king and queen on Friday night. On October 24, 1992, everyone watched the king, Ebi Zahabi, and the queen, Kristy Jett, take their famous walk. Thanks go out to the SCA for the great event. Recognizing Excellence

Courtland's Stars Shine!

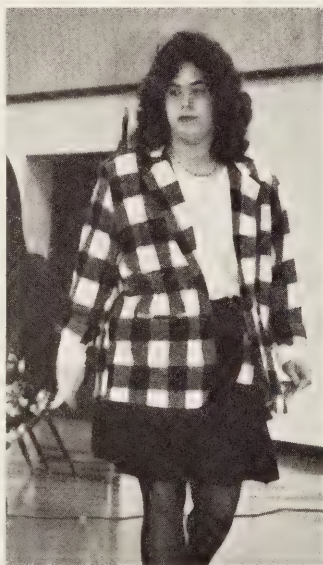

Excellence is not an unfamiliar attribute of a Courtland student. Every year the members of the student body who maintained a 3.5 throughout the previous year are honored in the Academic Assembly. At this assembly all the students are gathered and parents are invited to attend the ceremony recognizing these students hard work. This assembly is also the tense moment when the new inductees of the National Honor Society are named. This announcement came after weeks of waiting for responses to the applications turned in to the sponsors, Mrs. Jordan and Mrs. Dewey. This year a large group of students were bestowed with the honor of being inductees. These students have not only excelled academically but in their free time also by making a difference in their school and community. Overall Courtland High School is blessed with many intelligent and diligent students who deserve to be rewarded for their efforts.

The students anxiously wait for their names to be called so they can receive their academic letter.

Pump It Up!

Cougars get pumped at pep rallies

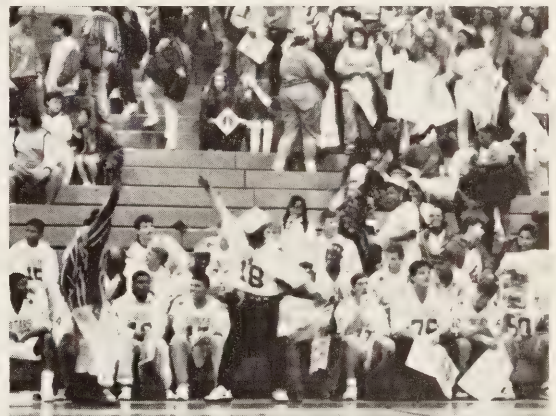

What's the best way to get Cougar spirit? Go to a pep rally and you'll find out the real meaning of spirit. Everyone looks forward to them not only because you get out of class, but also because they are filled with excitement. First of all the students in either fall or winter sports come out and get cheered on. Next there is the long awaited battle between the classes. This is probably the most enjoyable because students are told to be loud. Then the cheerleaders or gymnasts do a routine to entertain the school. The administrators even get into it by judging the shouting contest and other events. Thanks to Mrs. Stover for arranging the spirit-filled pep rallies.

"I feel they [pep rallies] are good because they help school spirit, but unfortunately there are some students who do not act appropriately or appreciate them."

Vocational Addition Increases Education Program

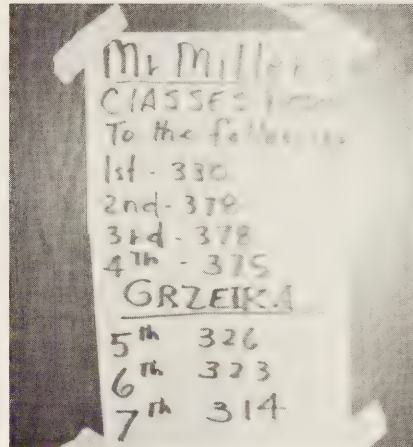

With the intention of expanding the vocational education system, the Spotsylvania Vocational Center will increase in size by approximately 60,000 square feet. The center hopes to furnish area students with a variety of classes never offered in the past. The addition will include a media production class, which will teach students how to produce movies, set up stages, make television announcements, and edit types. There will also be electronics class, which teaches advanced electronic fields, and industrial maintenance class, which teaches students to take care of minor repairs on any kind of machine. An auxiliary shop will be added and this will include a demonstration lab, which is open to the community. For cosmetology students, there will be two new labs in the addition. This new addition to the Vocational Center will open new doors for students and allow them to keep up with the new, upcoming technology.

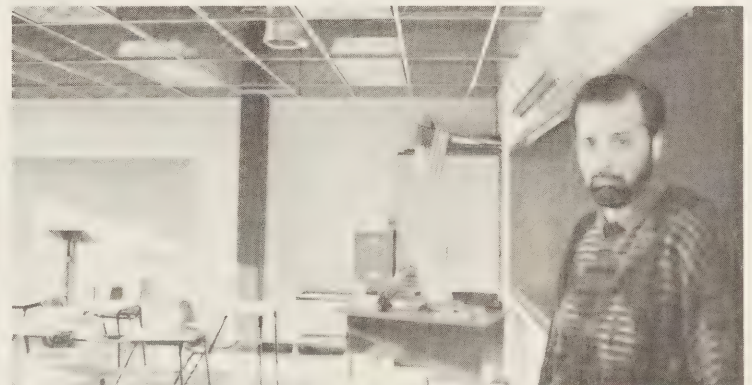

Tear Gas Incident Clears the School

Picture this. You are sitting in fourth period taking notes on the importance of insects in society and suddenly you breathe in . You feel a burning sensation and almost lose your breath. Your teacher tells you to exit the classroom. While in the hall you have to cover your nose and mouth while hardly breathing in order to escape without inhaling the unknown gas. The whole school is gathered in the teachers. Then you see fire trucks and ambulances. Fourteen people are loaded into the emergency vehicles. Everyone is sent home. So what was the unknown gas? It was identified as tear gas. Though it may have been a way to get a day off from school, it turned into a costly event. Nearly a dozen people were taken to the hospital with minor skin and eye irritations. The bomb was set around 11:15 on Wednesday, November 1992 and everyone had been evacuated by 11:30. The clean up effort cost approximately 15,000 dollars. School resumed five days later. Students and teachers returned to find everything the same way they had left it. Certain rooms and corridors were damaged but most of the school remained the same. This event will stay in the students and teachers minds for years. The event was even reported in U.S.A. Today and on Channel 4 News. Top Left: Mrs. Mann's classroom was exactly the same as she left it five days before. Top Right: This corridor had to be cleaned using high-power water because this was where the bomb was detonated. Middle: Certain classes had to be moved to other rooms including Mr. Miller's classes. Notices were placed on the doors to direct the students as to where to go.

Bottom Left: Mr. Miller's room will never be the same. The fans were used for airing out the room and the ceiling tiles had to be replaced. Bottom Right: Mr. Miller does not look happy to have his room renovated.

Swashbuckling Mr. Miller proves to be the true cavalier.

For students and staff of Courtland, Halloween becomes a day to hide away their true being and have fun pretending to be someone else. Imaginations are unleashed and are allowed to run free and wild (at times) to escape the normal routine of each school day. The costumes ranged from a court jester to the renowned Uncle Fester. The observance of Halloween originated back to the era of the Druids. Druids were gentle people, who practiced natural magic, trying to get in touch with nature. Today Druids seek to emulate the noble qualities of the priesthood, its skill in poetry, its wisdom, and learning its closeness to nature and belief on the transmigration of souls. To the Druids, Halloween is the time for evil and good spirits to roam the earth, ghosts and fairies to build bonfires and foretell the future, and for witches to ride across the sky. Also Druids believed the lord of death brought the souls of the dead and made the souls enter the bodies of animals. This belief is how the cat became a sacred figure because the cats' souls were human beings that had been transformed for committing evil sins. Now the bonfire is lit in jack o'lantern and witches and cats are made of paper and candy. The true meaning of Halloween was corrupted when prankish destruction occurred from beliefs in the power of witches

Christmas 1992

As the year winds down, the Christmas season offers a break for students and faculty of Courtland. We rejoice that love has come into the world; and show our gratitude for the great gift and to deeds of kindness and affection. Each year a program is presented by the band, and the drama classes covered in gifts from the clubs. This year the contest was a success. Clubs showed how they related to the holiday. Many ideas showed originality and creativity. We in the United States often think that we have the loveliest Christmas of all, for people have come to us from every land, bringing the best of the old to help build up the new.

Christmas is an awesome time of the year. It's made so because it's a time when the majority of whole world is concentrating on giving and not receiving.

EVENING OF ELEGANCE

February semi-formal leads off the year in style

Ebi Zahabi and Ginger Avery are all smiles as they dance the night away. Ebi is the SCA president and appears to be enjoying the results of the hard work of the committee.

On February 20, 1993 the SCA sponsored the first semi-formal of the year. The night was an "Evening of Elegance." During the dance many students opted to try their vocal abilities on the karaoke machine. The night was superbly planned by the committee consisting of Jen Armstrong, Jennifer Himes, Jennifer Monteith, Missy Spears, and Kristy Jett. The dance was an excellent way to start off the new year.

Greg Freitag sports an unusual accessory for a dance, sunglasses. His date, Chrissy Lucy doesn't seem to mind the novelty though.

Silk, Satin & Lace

High fashion comes to Courtland!

Last year DECA decided to throw its hat in the "special events" ring with its own special evening of high fashion and glamour. The club's idea was a Bridal/Prom Fashion Show which was sponsored by local businesses including Silk, Satin & Lace; TJ's Formal Wear; Days Remembered; and Graves Photography. Music for the show was provided by Melvin the Mixer who played a wide variety of music ranging from "Vogue" to "Unchained Melody." All decorations and choreography were done by DECA members. Prizes were given away during the intermission and coupons to selected stores were provided in the program. All of the students, teachers, and sponsors agreed that the show was a success.

All-Star Cheerleaders Shine Bright In London

Hard work does pay off. These girls were chosen out of 20,000 girls to go to London, England over Christmas break. I don't think there is a better way to spend a break than this. On December 26, 1992, the girls, who were nervous but also excited, left for their adventure. To quote Michelle Boggs "London was the most beautiful city I've ever seen. You could be beside one bridge and there would be another one 800 yards away." Some of the places visited were Westminster Abbey, Windsor Castle, Stratford (upon Avon), the Tower of London, St. Paul's Cathedral, and Warwick Castle. They cheered in a parade through London while they were there. This vacation would be one they would surely never forget.

The Cougars returned to the regional playoffs in '92 for the first time in several years. Though the season did not start off well (the first three games were losses), the team came back to win seven straight games. In the Chancellor Invitational, a mid-season tournament, the Cougars improved on last year's finish, placing second. The Cougars lost the championship game to Chancellor in a close shoot-out. The regional playoffs were held at Charlottesville, where the Cougars beat their first round opponent 1-0. They came back the next day to lose a hard fought game to Park View 2-0. It was a good season for the Cougars, with an overall record of 11-5-1. During the regular season, opponents scored only five goals against the Cougars.

GIRLS TENNIS

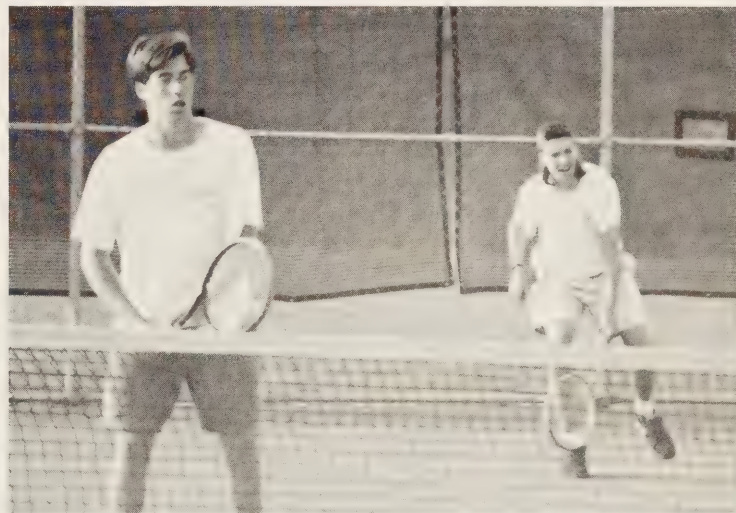

The Girls Tennis team showed great improvement over the course of the season. Their final record was 5-5. The top six seeds were as follows: (1) Leslie Sullivan, (2) Gretchen Blankenship, (3) Becky Sizemore, (4) Carmela Albo, (5) Rachel Metler, and (6) Michelle Burns. The girls were coached by Virginia Snuggs, a P. E. teacher at Battlefield Intermediate. Several matches came down to the doubles results for tie breakers. The doubles teams were as follows: (1) Gretchen Blankenship and Becky Sizemore, (2) Rachel Metler and Carmela Albo, and (3) Clarissa Albo and Michelle Burns. Other team members were Angie Lundholm, Mona Berry, Lauren Marcellin, Sarah Jones, and Megan Romain.

A great finish in 1992

The 1992 Courtland tennis team enjoyed its best year ever, finishing with a record of 6-2, and ending up in third place in the district. The team's top six were Andy Wolfenbarger, Jamie Oakes, Alex Stamenkovich, Shannon Mahone, Sam Kim, and Luke Breivik. Sam Kim medaled at the Stafford Tournament, and earned all-district status as a result of his 12-0 record in singles.

The 1992 Varsity football season was one with many ups and downs. The team finished with a record of 3-7. A definite high point was the win over James Monroe which avenged a big loss from the previous year. Despite the record, each member of the football team maintained a positive attitude throughout the season's entirety. Toward the end of the season each game had little pressure and therefore was more fun to play. If nothing else, the players worked hard, but things just didn't turn out the way everyone may have wished.

The Courtland Cross Country team had a greatly improved year. The top runners for the boys team were Brian Conner, John Duker, Richard Hall, Eric Johnson, and Wes Banner. In the Battlefield District meet they finished in third place behind Chancellor and King George but still advanced to the Regional meet. The girls teams' top runners were Clara Moulton, Jennifer Beland, Shannon Atkinson, Jeannie Friedrich, and Jennifer Smith. In the District meet they finished behind Chancellor and James Monroe and they also advanced to the Regional meet. In the Regional meet the boys team finished fifth and the girls team finished eighth. Overall the team had a great season. They ran and worked hard and had a fun time doing it.

Courtland Golf: JUST "FORE" THE RECORD

The Courtland Golf team went into the record books when they ended the 1992 season with their finest finish in Courtland's history. The team finished with only one loss in the district and tied for first place with Culpeper. The golf team also finished second in the district tournament, advancing to regionals held in Harrisonburg. Following the tournament, Jason Self advanced to the state tournament. Jason finished in twelfth place out of all of the competitors in the state tournament.

Here's The "Scoop" On Hockey

Varsity Field Hockey

Some of the Varsity players sit anxiously watching the game.

Although Courtland had a young team this year with only four returning seniors, the Lady Cougars hockey team still managed to defeat both Orange and Caroline twice. It wasn't the hockey team's best season but there were some very tough competitors. Some highlights of the season include Latonia Morgan being selected for the First Team All District and Renee Kuzmovich who made honorable mention. Coach Frame looks forward to an outstanding 1993 season.

Through the Hoop?

The Varsity Girl's Basketball Team had a great season, winning most of their games by a ten point margin. It was a record-breaking year for the girls. The previous high score in one game for the team was exceeded against James Monroe. Hannah Brittain also broke the individual point record during a single game by achieving 36 points in that game. Hannah was named to the first roster of the All-Area Basketball team and Kim Burruss received an honorable mention for her efforts on the court. The team will be losing many of its players to graduation this year, but the underclassmen have shown a great deal of depth and talent. Everyone is anticipating a great season next year, but the graduating seniors will be missed.

ON THE MOVE

J.V. Girls start off the season with spirit

The J.V. Girls Basketball Team welcomed the challenge of a new season with great enthusiasm and spirit. The team overcame many of the tough obstacles in its path with teamwork and dedication beyond the call of duty. The team had a plethora of freshmen but the new members of the team showed a great deal of talent and commitment to their sport.

The girls had an excellent season with a record of 11-5 in the district and 12-5 overall. The girls look forward to another winning season next year with many returning players and a new crop of talented freshmen to work with. The students, faculty and parents also look forward to another action-packed season.

The 1992-1993 season was one of many "firsts." This year's team, led by ten seniors, had the most wins in Courtland's basketball history. This was also the first year that we hosted a tournament game. After winning this game the Cougars advanced to the second round. In addition, this was the first year in which all of the senior players had attended Courtland all four years of high school. All of these "firsts" led to an impressive second place finish in the district.

Freshman Basketball

This year the J.V. Basketball team won the District Championship by defeating Caroline 54-44, with whom they had split the two regular season meetings. Gary Jones contributed 21 points against this tough opponent. The J.V. team was able to win the championship because of their ability to work as a family and, as Joe Hoffman put it, "We learned to play good pressure defense and grasp the district title." Key players include Gary Jones, J.T. Nino, and Chuck Markley.

Gymnastics

The Courtland Gymnastics team ended its season with a first place finish in Districts and a third place finish in Regionals. Leading the team were co-MVPs Courtney Givens and Shannon Atkinson. Both of them performed well throughout the season as did the rest of the team members. Shannon Atkinson placed first and Courtney Givens finished third in the All-Around competition for Districts. In Regionals, Stephanie Mager finished fourth on the beam, Shannon finished second on bars, and Courtney Givens placed sixth in the floor exercise. Receiving the Coach's Award was Stephanie Mager and Ashley Kaila received the Incentive Award. Because of three freshman and several other underclassmen, the gymnastics team looks forward to many more successful seasons.

STOPPING AT NOTHING TO Be.....

MASTERS OF THE MAT

The essence of using physical and mental strength proves wrestlers to be dedicated to their sport. With speed and determination each individual member proved himself worthy to be a part of the team.

The sport of hand-to-hand combat between two unarmed opponents, each of whom attempts to force the other to the ground and on his back, and to pin his shoulders in an immobile position there originated to the days of primitive man as an exercise of the physical skills needed for survival in his battles with men and animals. Through time wrestling has changed from a necessity for survival to a chance to use free style and prove their strength.

For the Courtland wrestling team, many individuals placed in the districts. Robert Abel and Brian Shawaryn won the Battlefield District championship. Johnathan Johnson placed second and John Berryman and Felix Canul placed fourth.

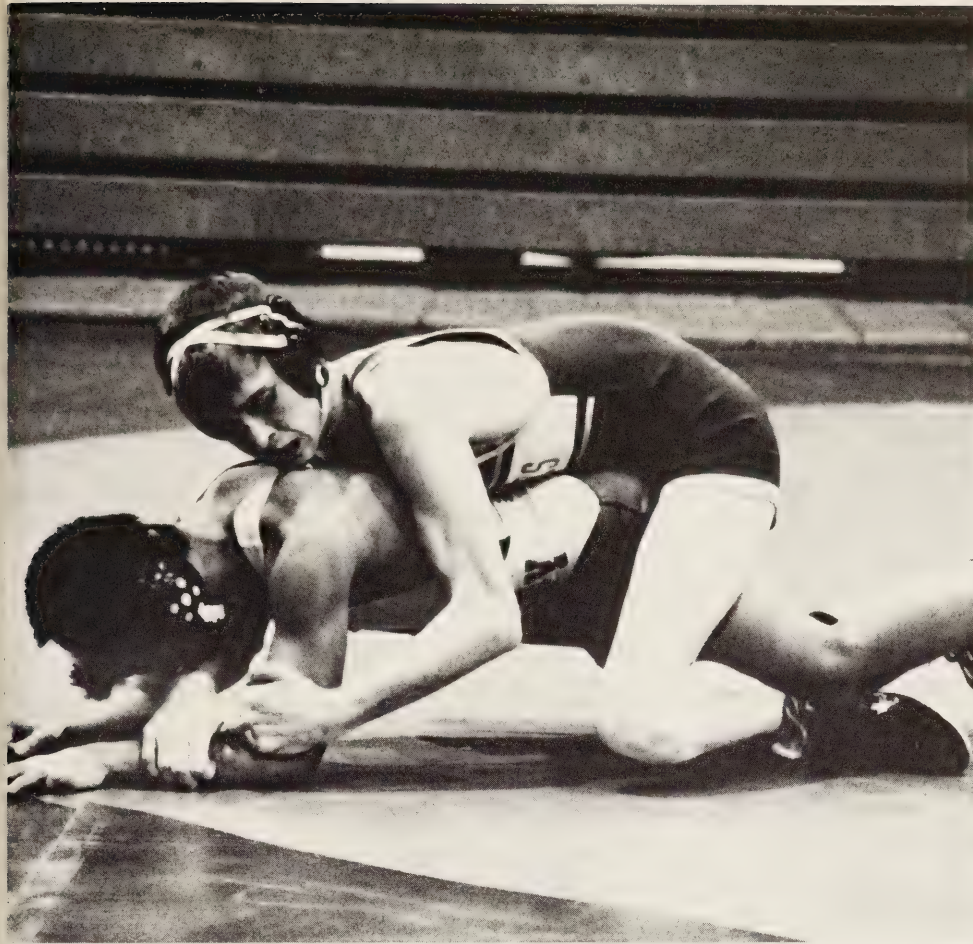

Brian Shawaryn completed his wrestling career with a record of 87 wins, 18 losses and 55 pins-the most by a Courtland wrestler. His accomplishments include two time Brentsville invitation champion and most valuable player, two time Stafford invitation and most valuable player, three time Battlefield district champion, three time Region II runner-up, three time Virginia state qualifier, placing fifth in 1991, fourth in 1992, and second this year. Due to Brian's accomplishment he has given much support for the future wrestling teams to carry on the team's winnings.

Royal Brigade Marching Band

Corey Koch is the new band director at Courtland this year. This is his first year teaching since his graduation from James Madison University last year.

Strike up the Band

The Royal Brigade Marching Band did well this season with their new director, Mr. Koch. This year at the North Stafford Band competition the whole band managed to get a third place. Also this year the band's drum majors, Kim Ketchum and Becca Beard, got second place at the James Madison University competition. One final award they won this year was the band's color guard, third place at VBODA. Besides just being in competitions the band has done a lot at the school. They have played in all the pep rallies during lunch and the pep rallies in the gym. They have really helped boost the spirits of the student body. The band looks forward to an even more promising season next year.

IN QUEST TO BECOME THE BEST

Courtland wins it all at the One-Act Play competition

The Drama students were successful in their quest to become the best this year at the One-Act Play competition held at Orange. The play presented was entitled "The Ledge" and the performance earned Courtland the distinguished honor of 1st in the District. Many of the individual performers also earned recognition for their performances. Danny McBride placed 2nd in the District for Best Actor for his presentation as a window washer. The honor of being named runner-up in the district for Best Actress went to Heather Lindert for her portrayal as a secretary. The play was a comedy explaining what would happen if a man was on a ledge about to jump and the people's reaction to his actions. The play showcased the talent of the cast and crew and helped to establish Courtland as one of the best school around for drama.

District DECA is held at Spotsylvania Mall in February. Twelve schools compete against each other in fourteen different events. Some of these events are Apparel and Accessories, Communications, Job Interview, General Merchandise, and General Marketing. The first place overall winner in each event continues on to compete at the state level. This year at the District level, Courtland DECA entered 18 students and had the following winners. Jennifer Sherman placed 3rd in the written employment test; Justin Lane won 3rd in promotion; Gary Murphy won 3rd place overall in food marketing; Mongo Smith won 3rd place overall in Quick Serve Restaurant; KC Brazier won 2nd place overall in Selling; and Kim Sitton won 3rd place overall in Math and Economics.

State this year was held at Williamsburg, Virginia during the month of March. Courtland DECA was proud to have KC Brazier represent its chapter as the voting delegate and Kim Sitton in the Math and Economic contest. Courtland DECA entered in two team contests and both teams won awards. Angela Williams and Justin Lane received an honorable mention for their video "DECA - Still Shining After 50 Years". Stephanie Hummer and Angela Stanford entered the State Marketing Management and won 2nd place in the Spontaneous Event, 1st place in the Long Term Project, and 1st place Overall. This first place overall win entitles the team to attend the DECA National Convention held in Orlando, Florida in May.

As the years have flown by
I have enjoyed you so.
Now, I guess it's time to open your wings
And for me to let go.

You have always had a strong determination, and you have also crossed a lot of obstacles already in your life, and that my dear has helped build your character and strength in your life's path. I'm so very proud of you and you are Something Special. I'll always be there for you.

Dream On.
